Heard for Threat

Rome, March 26 (AP)—A spokesman in Premier Alcide de Gasperi's office said today police have arrested a youth accused of threatening to kill the premier. The spokesman said no actual attempt had been made against Gasperi's life. De Gasperi apparently knew nothing of the threat.

Auto Insurance Bill Killed in Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The chairman of the Assembly Codes Committee said today his committee had killed a proposal to make automobile insurance compulsory in New York.
Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Yonkers Republican, said the 15-member body had voted unanimously against the bill.
The measure, introduced by Assemblyman Francis X. McGowan, Manhattan Democrat, would have required all automobile owners and drivers to furnish proof of financial responsibility before they could be licensed.

Rent Increases Is Top Difficulty in Forming Rent Bill

'Home Rule' Decontrol Provision Is Okayed; Present Controls to Expire Thursday

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Congress members working out a compromise rent bill try to crack today what Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) called "the toughest nut of all"—what to do about rent increases.

Senate and House conferees faced up to that job (10 a. m.) after agreeing last night on a broad "home rule" decontrol provision. Under it, states, cities, towns and villages could set rent curbs at any time if the state governor approved.
However, an Associated Press survey indicated there would be no general rush by local communities to get rid of controls under such a law. The check showed many city officials and several governors in favor of continued controls.

Few spoke out for immediate junking of the curbs, although P. H. Borge, Idaho, Mayor of Boise, said: "I believe we have enough housing, so there's no further necessity for rent controls in Boise."

The present federal rent law expires next Thursday, March 31. The House has passed a bill to extend controls 15 months. A Senate-approved bill provides for a 12 to 15-month continuation.
That is one of the differences the Senate-House conference committee still has to iron out. Another—the one Sparkman called the "toughest nut"—deals with rent increases.

The Senate bill calls for some rent increases up to 10 per cent in two five per cent steps. Under the House measure the government would have to fix just one rent increase, but at a "reasonable return on the reasonable value" of the property.
Rep. Paul Brown (D-Ga.), sponsor of that provision in the House is a member of the conference committee. Other members reported that Brown was ready to wage a fierce fight for the reasonable value section.

Sparkman said it had been suggested that both the House and the Senate provisions dealing with rent increases be kept in the final bill. No decision was reached at yesterday's meetings.

Sparkman, chief of the Senate group, said the compromise bill "is better as it stands now than the separate bills passed by the two Houses." He predicted that President Truman will sign it when it gets to the White House, probably early next week.

Dougherty Is Injured As He Falls Into Hole

John Dougherty, 68, who police said has a pole into an excavation injured in a fall into an excavation at Broadway and Mill street about 4:45 p. m. Friday.

Dougherty was taken by a W. N. Conner ambulance to Kingston Hospital, where authorities told police he was suffering from a severe laceration to the left side of his head, possible fracture of skull, concussion, abrasions to his legs and a laceration to his left knee. He was still on the hospital serious list today.

A witness to the fall notified police, who in turn called for the ambulance. William A. Krum, acting detective, was assigned to investigate the cause of the fall.
Police reported the excavation was protected by a barrier with lighted lanterns.

Opposition Meets

New York, March 26 (AP)—Foes of the "world peace conference" have held their own meeting today. A dozen writers, educators and professionals are scheduled to speak at the counter-rally sponsored by the Americans for intellectual freedom. The group, organized specifically to oppose the "peace" conference, meets at Freedom House, a few blocks from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where most of the "peace" sessions are slated. Dr. Sidney Hook, New York University philosophy professor, is chairman of the rally meeting, which begins at 3 p. m. (EST).

Dewey Signs Bill Taxing Premiums On Compensation

Tax Is Expected to Yield $800,000 a Year to State at Two Per Cent Rate

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The controversial bill to tax premiums of the State's Workmen's Compensation Insurance fund has been approved by Governor Dewey.

The measure, which barely squeezed through the Legislature becomes effective April 1. Dewey signed it yesterday.
Under its provisions, premiums paid to the state fund will be subjected to the two per cent tax already levied on private insurance company premiums.

Supporters of the measure, estimated the tax would yield the state $800,000 a year.
After heated debate, the proposal passed the Assembly by a bare majority of 76 to 62. The Senate adopted it by a vote of 33 to 20.

Although the tax bill will not affect the State's unemployment insurance fund it would be levied against a sickness disability fund such as now is under consideration by the Legislature.

Under that proposal, one of the administration's major pieces of legislation for the current session, a fund would be established to pay employees during time lost due to sickness or disability not connected with employment.

The fund would be supported by payroll taxes levied against employers and employees.

During debate on the insurance bill, Senator Arthur Wachtel, Bronx Democrat, declared that "it is a vicious bill and I see no need for it."

Senator Benjamin F. Feinberg, majority leader, defended it on the ground that the state insurance fund was seeking business in competition with private insurance companies, which are subject to the tax.
He declared that "we need private enterprise in this country and need to keep the state out of business."

Middletown Man Dies After Tavern Fight

Middletown, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—A 29-year-old farm laborer was held on a manslaughter charge today in connection with the death of a Middletown man after a tavern fight.

Police identified the victim as Charles A. Banuati and the accused as Henry Gusz, 29, of Greenville Township, N. Y.

Police quoted witnesses as saying:

The two men got into an argument in a bar and grill here last night. The argument flared into a fight and Gusz knocked his opponent down, ejected him from the tavern and dragged the prostrate body into an alleyway.
Police found Banuati unconscious in the alleyway a few minutes after the fight. He died in a hospital. An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

Illness Removes Eisenhower As Mediator; Leahy Resigns

Washington, March 26 (AP)—The illness of one official and retirement of another cut the Joint Chiefs of Staff today down to three men—the representatives of the quarrelling armed forces.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the group's temporary chairman and moderator, is ill. Indications are that it might be some time before he can return to duty.

Eisenhower has been sick at his hotel apartment since last Monday, suffering from what his physician diagnosed as "a severe case of acute gastro-enteritis"—inflammation of the intestines.

The national military establishment, in a formal announcement, said Eisenhower probably will be able to leave in a few days "for some place, as yet not selected, where he will have a complete rest before resuming his temporary duties as presiding officer of the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

The impression is that the illness is more uncomfortable than dangerous. Eisenhower's office cancelled all his official and social engagements.

Meanwhile the White House announced the retirement of Admiral William D. Leahy, charter member of the joint chiefs organization.

Leahy, too, has been ill. He underwent an operation earlier this year, then went down to the naval base at Key West, Fla., to recuperate. He was there when President Truman took his recent vacation at the naval base and presumably the arrangements for the 73-year-old admiral's retirement were then made.

Mr. Truman had him farewell by decorating him with a gold

Rankin Says Move Was 'Requested' by Legion, Members of Committee

Washington, March 26 (AP)—A still dizzy House was back on the veterans pension merry-go-round today.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.) stepped back to the controls yesterday to introduce a limited pension bill for veterans of World War I.

Only Thursday, after the House buried his multi-billion dollar pension bill for all World War I and II servicemen, a disappointed Rankin had said no pension legislation could pass at this session.

But just a day later he bounced back with his new proposal, introduced, he said, "by request." He said the American Legion and "many members" of the House Veterans Committee, of which he is chairman, had urged the new bill.

Of its prospects, Rankin declared: "I'm making no predictions." Before his first bill got to the House, he had confidently forecast its passage by an overwhelming majority.

Rankin told the House he hoped to have his new bill up for consideration "in a short time."

Whereas the Mississippi's first bill provided $90 a month pensions at age 65 to all 13,800,000 World War I and II veterans, the second is limited to the approximately 3,500,000 veterans of World War I and provides for pensions of $72 a month for vets whose income falls below a certain point. It also prohibits "pyramiding" of benefits from other sources, and confines pensions to honorably discharged veterans.

Most of these provisions were tucked onto Rankin's first bill during the battering it took on the House floor.

Rankin said he thought the changes would "greatly reduce the cost" from the tentative figure of $125,000,000,000 set on the old bill.

The move brought mixed reaction from those who fought him earlier this week.

Rep. Teague (D-Tex.), who had poised the axe over the first bill, observed that most of what the bill offers "already is in existing law."

He referred to statutory regulations of the Veterans Administration which make available disability and unemployment benefits to needy veterans.

At present, a 55-year-old veteran with 60 per cent disability or a 60-year-old veteran with 50 per cent disability is entitled to $60 a month if unemployed. Age 65, and with only 10 per cent disability, he is entitled to $72 a month.

Rep. Kearney (R-Ky.), a member of the veterans committee, termed the new bill a "fair approach" to the problem but added that it needs "careful attention and extended hearings."

Beaten to Death

Philadelphia, March 26 (AP)—Hubert E. Madden, 55-year-old businessman and friend of Philadelphia political leaders was found dead today on a downtown street. Police said he apparently had been beaten to death. The body was found on 15th street near its intersection with Walnut, only four blocks from city hall. Madden's wallet contained $107. A valuable wrist watch was on his arm.

Next Leader

SEN. A. H. WICKS

Ulster county's Republican party chairman, Senator Arthur H. Wicks, now serving as head of the Senate Finance Committee, is slated to become the next majority leader in the state Legislature, according to reliable sources in Albany. They say Wicks will replace Senator Feinberg at the end of the present session when he leaves the post to join the Public Service Commission. The promotion will not affect the Ulster senator's finance chairmanship, it was added, and he will continue in that position. (Freeman photo.)

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Veteran Selling Flowers

Larry Romano, about 55, a World War I veteran who had been selling flowers in the up-town section of Kingston all day Friday, died of a heart attack at a restaurant at 654 Broadway about 6:30 p. m., Coroner Ernest A. Kelly reported. Romano's home is at 2955 Morris avenue, Bronx, New York.

Romano came to town with Oliver Zeigler and Michael Forlazio, all members of veterans organizations, and procured a license to sell artificial flowers. After working along Wall street all day, they went to the restaurant at 654 Broadway, where Romano collapsed.

The police department was notified and Dr. Vincent P. Amato was sent. The doctor pronounced Romano dead of a heart attack.

Coroner Kelly investigated and learned that the veteran was known to have been suffering from a heart condition, and had been carrying medicine with him.

Will Watch Elections

Paris, March 26 (AP)—Communists are expected to take another beating at run-off local elections all over France tomorrow. At stake are 785 seats in local "General Councils." These councils, on the county level of government, have little power in the highly centralized French system. Nevertheless the elections are bitterly fought and politicians watch them to see which way the wind is blowing.

Immigration Officials Want to Know About Legality of Trio Being in U. S.

Torrid Session

Editor Says Conference Owes Allegiance to Outside Force

New York, March 26 (AP)—Two Canadians seized at the controversial "peace conference" were ordered to return to their home country at once today after questioning by immigration authorities.

A third Canadian also taken into custody was permitted to remain. Authorities would only say they were questioned concerning Communist activities.

After questioning Federal agents said John Goss and Mrs. Margaret Fairley were allowed to return voluntarily to Canada, with Goss flying to Vancouver, B. C., and Mrs. Fairley taking a train.

The third Canadian, Barker Fairley, Mrs. Fairley's husband, named as vice-president of the Canadian Council of American-Soviet Friendship, was allowed to remain since he is a visiting guest professor at Columbia University.

New York, March 26 (AP)—The arrest of three Canadians by federal agents at a session of the tension-charged "world peace" conference was reported today as the day's keynote session, began. Immigration officials were said to have taken the trio into custody last night at a conference banquet in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. They were to be questioned about the legality of their entrance into the country, the report said.

The three were named as Barker Fairley, vice president of the Canadian Council of American-Soviet Friendship, his wife, Margaret, a member of the Cultural Committee of the Canadian Labor Progressive (Communist) party, and John Goss, actor and theatre director.

Conference officials said only Goss is a delegate and that he was not disturbed at the date last night where he sat as an honored guest.

A dozen pickets were on hand at Carnegie Hall as the morning session began. Catholic War Veterans officials, leading the opposition to the meeting, said more than 3,000 pickets, eventually would demonstrate.

Not Peace at Any Price
A U. S. magazine editor told the banquet last night Americans "do not want peace at any price."

Hisses and jeers broke out six times in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night as Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, spoke.

He accused the conference of owing allegiance to an "outside government." There was some applause when he sat down, but hisses and hisses almost drowned it out.

Then playwright Lillian Hellman began her address, saying: "I would recommend Mr. Cousins, that when you talk about your hosts at dinner, wait until you have gone home to do it."

Village Destroyed

Tornado Levels Western Town, Rips Phone and Power Lines

McAlester, Okla., March 26 (AP)—A pre-dawn tornado destroyed the village of Crowder, 15 miles north of here, early today.

First reports said at least three persons were killed, but highway patrolmen who searched the ruins had found no bodies three hours later.

Approximately 20 injured persons were brought to McAlester Hospital.

Only a few stone buildings were left standing in the little community after the tornado ripped through it at 4:15 a. m. (C.S.T.). Crowder's population is officially listed at 378.

All telephone and power lines to the community were down.

In Oklahoma City, the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co. said it had reports the village of Canadian, four miles north of Crowder, also was hit.

The Red Cross sent emergency teams to the scene, and the McAlester unit of the Oklahoma National Guard was called upon to help.

Dutch Church Is To Show Authentic Last Supper Scenes

The Last Supper scene in the Passion Play to be presented at the First Dutch Church on April 5 and 6 will be as authentic as possible, according to Mrs. Ruth Friedell, chairman of the properties committee.

All the symbols of the Jewish Passover table will be used, as they were at the Last Supper nearly 2,000 years ago. Describing the articles to be shown, the table to make the scene historically accurate, Mrs. Friedell said:

"The articles placed on the Seder table are, of course, symbols, just as the Passover feast itself is symbolic of the deliverance of the Hebrews from bondage in Egypt. These articles are: the unleavened cakes, symbolizing the bread of affliction; the roast egg, symbolizing the daily sacrifices; the Temple at Jerusalem during Passover week; a roasted shank bone, representing the Pascal lamb; bitter herbs for the bitterness of slavery; parsley for the spring season, symbolizing hope; salt water for the tears of Israel in slavery and oppression; charoseth, for the bricks the Hebrews were compelled to make during their captivity; and a large extra goblet of wine, representing hospitality to all."

Reproduction of life in Jesus' time will be accomplished by the use of a temple background, altar, scrolls and other religious items, Mrs. Friedell said. The Passion play B choir rehearsal; 7:45 p. m., Union Lutheran service in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church with the Rev. Dr. E. T. Dahlberg, pastor, as guest preacher. Friday, 2:30 p. m., Women's Missionary Society meeting in church parlors, with devotion by Mrs. Justin D. Field; book review by Mrs. Henry Klothe; solo by Miss Ariene Crow; hostesses, Mrs. Charles Snyder and Miss Lucinda Healy. Saturday, 8 p. m., annual meeting of the Little Garden Club of Kingston in the church parlors, with guest speaker.

MONSIGNOR FULTON SHEEN will speak SUNDAY, WGY 6 P.M.

This advertisement sponsored by Knights of Columbus, Kingston Council No. 275

Play will also make use of fishing nets, palms, a crown of thorns and a wooden cross, she added.

Music for the play will be furnished by the senior choir of the church, directed by Mrs. Edna Rignall. Miss Caroline Little will accompany them at the organ. The musical program is as follows: Prelude—"The Woman of Bethany" and Actus Tragicus. Weinberger. God is a Spirit Bennett. The Lord's Prayer Malotte. John Riddle, soloist. Bow Down Thine Ear Maunder. Jerusalem Parker. I Believe O Lord St. Saens. Raymond Myers, soloist. The Agony in the Garden Stainer. John Little, soloist. Processional to Calvary Maunder. As It Began to Dawn Vincent.

William Greene

Footlighters Borrow
Finery for Play
Set for Tuesday

"Something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue," is what one would expect to find in a bride's outfit but those who attend "Tommy" at the Kingston High School auditorium on Tuesday evening will view this assortment among the props, furnishings and costumes used in the play.

Those in charge of assembling the necessary equipment for the production of Tuesday night's play have met with enthusiastic cooperation wherever they went. When it was necessary to borrow a portrait of Lincoln, it was forthcoming from the Dutch Reformed Church, furniture was provided in abundance by the Hotel Governor Clinton, a practical door and stairway were cheerfully loaned by Michael Linenthal of the Woodstock Playhouse, and to top it all, Justice of the Peace, George J. Brandy, Woodstock, provided a well laundered night shirt for one of the character actors.

Director Houston Richards evinced pleased amazement at the enthusiasm shown by those who were approached for services and stated "there must be a little bit of the actor in almost everybody. These people, not only do it with considerable trouble to help us with what we need but do it with the evident feeling that they are a part of the enterprise. I don't know what we would do without them."

Proceeds from the play will go to the Kingston City Library. The organization urges all those who enjoy a fast moving comedy to attend the performance of "Tommy" next Tuesday evening, both for entertainment and to assist in supporting the worthy project.

The play will be given at Kingston High School Auditorium, 8:30 p. m. "Tommy" by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Russell is full of down to earth situations which could happen in almost any home. The cast is ably directed and thoroughly rehearsed. The set is well designed and attractive. The combination of hard, untried work by the footlighters with the generous and enthusiastic cooperation of a host of friends and neighbors should make Tuesday night's performance of "Tommy" a pleasurable and profitable undertaking.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Catholic Holy Hour

The annual Holy Hour for all Catholics in Scouting will be held at St. Joseph's Church, Sunday, at 3 p. m. Troops will meet in St. Joseph's School at 2:30 o'clock.

Workshop Monday

Because of the great popularity of the Workshop held at St. Peter's last month, Leaders in the Kingston District have decided to hold another this month instead of in April as planned. This meeting will be held Monday, at 7:30 p. m., at St. Peter's School. At this time crepe paper craft will be studied because this was first on the questionnaire filled out by the leaders at the last Leaders' Club meeting. All adults in scouting are invited to attend.

District Committee

The March meeting of the Kingston District Committee was held March 22, at the home of Mrs. J. Haviland Barley, chairman. There was much favorable comment on the part of the members with regard to the success of the recent Birthday Party. Miss Ida Bruck, Juliette Low representative, reported that she had received an additional contribution of $3, bringing the total of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund contributions to $52.81.

Program and workshop committees were set up for next year with Mrs. John Valentine and Mrs. George McDonough as co-chairmen. Mrs. Robert Shellenberger was appointed chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. J. Haviland Barley, chairman, appointed a nominating committee which will report at the next meeting. Members are: Mrs. Max Chirlin, Mrs. R. Van Dyke Basten and Mrs. Charles Davis.

The next meeting of the district committee will be held May 17, at the home of Mrs. Max Chirlin, 115 Linderman avenue.

Senior Conference

Various troops were represented in the Senior Scout Conference, last Saturday at the M.J.M. School, when the guest speakers were Mrs. Casper Souers, Mrs. Ronald Latz, Miss Hazel Metcalf, Mrs. Donald Tinnie and Peg Hard.

Before the program started, the scouts became acquainted over "nosebag" lunches in the school cafeteria. Each troop presented a brief act depicting individual programs.

In Ellenville, Troop 32 is a Marine one. In pantomime was shown the work being done in renovating the club room which will be used as a meeting place for the troop. The room has been made available to the scouts through the Men's Noon Day Club of Ellenville.

Kerhonkson's Senior Troop is specializing in the development of social adequacy in the troop. The skit interpreted teen-age tendencies as well as their idea of fun. Troop 53, Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church, Kingston, is receiving special training for program aides. This was demonstrated by an imaginary singing game. Other troops gave narrative reports of their activities.

"Sweater Girl" was presented by the Kerhonkson troop which described the borrowing and lending of sweaters.

The scouts enjoyed an interesting talk and demonstration by Mrs. Casper Souers on Primitive Camping. Miniature models of bridges, tents, building fires, were displayed.

Mrs. Donald Tinnie, Port Ewen, who is acting adviser to the Senior Scouts spoke briefly with regard to day and overnight trips from Camp Wendy.

On the subject of public relations and publicity, Peg Hard, chairman of this committee for the Ulster County Girl Scout Council, outlined the problems of the newspaper editor as well as those of the radio station program chairman. Comments were made on the value of recognizing news, and suggested that those of the Scouts who were working on high school newspapers take over the publicity for their individual troops. Recommendations were made for the types of radio programs to be presented during the summer months.

Margaret Brach, chairman of senior planning board, conducted the conference while Eleanor Lawrence, Troop 53, was hostess chairman, and Gloria Deputy, Troop 32, program chairman.

Attending the conference were Margaret Brach, Patricia DuBois, Troop 43, Walkkill; Thelma Shaver, Troop 45, Port Ewen; Irene Dosick, Gloria DePuy, Johanna Weimart, Helen Katz, Eleanor Comfort, Marjorie Shely, and Betty McFall, Troop 32, Ellenville; Alyce Stone, Ruth Green, Rachel West, Betty DeWitt, Loretta Grose, Barbara Decker, Patricia DePew, and Rachel Shea, Troop 36, Kerhonkson; Patricia Hotsing and Josephine Mancuso, Troop 1, Kingston; Eleanor Lawrence, Elinor Howard, Mary Lou Finch, Marjorie Howard, Marla Parrott and Joan Souers, Troop 53, Kingston.

Birthday Party
Approximately 430 Girl Scouts accompanied by leaders, troop committee, district committee and Council members attended the birthday party March 12, 1949 held at the Kingston City Library.

The party was the 37th anniversary of the founding of the movement here in the United States. The girls were welcomed by Mrs. Everett Coty, deputy commissioner and entertained by Fred Van Deusen and the Rev. Morris Huested. Refreshments were served in the Myron J. Michael cafeteria.

Kingston District Leaders
The regular meeting of the Kingston District Leaders' Club was held at St. John's Parish House, Albany avenue, Mrs. Joseph Reis, president, presided. Mrs. Ashton Hart, commissioner and other members of council and Kingston District Committee attended. The program committee announced that at the April meeting the district will speak to the leaders of puppetry. Gordon Craig spoke on outdoor life, stressing the importance of firemaking.

On Cruiser

JOSEPH P. ROBB

Joseph P. Robb, son of Mrs. Elsie Robb of R. L. Box 41, Kingston, has been assigned to the crew of the cruiser, New Salem. While awaiting the completion of repairs to the ship, which is now at Boston harbor, Robb is stationed at Fargo Building, Summer street, Boston 10, Mass. A graduate of Kingston High School in 1948, Robb joined the U. S. Navy at Kingston in December 1, 1948, for a three year enlistment. He has recently completed 16 weeks boot training on the Great Lakes at Camp Porter, Mich., following which he received a 10-day leave at home.

identification of plants and other phases of camp life. It was unanimously decided that the president of Leaders Club represent the leaders of the Kingston district on council.

Mrs. David Conway reported that the Arts and Crafts Exchange has received the following additional materials: Several boxes of felt hats, 20 sets for block printing, leather tools.

Mrs. Reis announced the following members of the program committee for next year: Mrs. John Valentine, Mrs. George McDonough, Mrs. Alvey Kuntz, Mrs. Paul Otto, Mrs. Bernhard Krummer, Mrs. Robert Teisels, Mrs. Betty Howard, Mrs. Stanley Van Wageningen and Mrs. O. Phillips. The nominating committee was also appointed and will take a straw vote at the next meeting. Members of this committee are: Mrs. R. T. Shellenberger, Mrs. Frank Graney and Mrs. Gertrude Wisneski. Miss Janice Hyde was appointed to serve as Juliette Low representative for two years to succeed Miss Ida Bruck.

Cost of Attic Flooring Is Comparatively Small

Attic space in many older homes is unusable, even as storage space, because of the lack of a floor. Storage of trunks, furniture, and other heavy objects on the ceiling joists is dangerous and may cause a sag in the ceiling of the room below.

The cost of placing a rough flooring over at least part of the average attic is small, and in many cases this effectively solves the storage problem.

THE BANCROFT

Compact House Offers All
Conveniences on One FloorUpstairs Space Can
for the Present

To the family looking for an all-on-one floor plan, yet anxious to avoid a rambling layout, the compactness and charm of "The Bancroft," the latest offering of Home of the Week Plan Service, offers a strong appeal.

This efficient dwelling, with its attached 11x14-foot single garage, will nicely fit on a 65x100-foot lot. Its exterior of picturesque gray fieldstone and white painted shingles will give it distinction in any neighborhood.

Shift for Books or Plants

The projecting bay window at the front of the house, which furnishes a 14-inch shelf within the living room to accommodate books or plants, balances the protruding central entrance with its Gothic-windowed Colonial door. A homey touch at the 3-casement window on the opposite side of the entrance is a pleasingly designed window box. In the house pictured, the owners gave a color accent to the exterior through use of a gay yellow paint on the shutters and the front door.

From the wrought-iron rail entry stoop, the visitor steps into a small hall with a coat closet directly ahead. Beside the closet door closes off stairs to the second floor. There, a guest chamber and bath and a storage room (which might be made into another bedroom) have been planned, but these rooms may be finished off later.

For the average small family The Bancroft offers complete living accommodations on its first floor.

An 18-12-foot living room is reached through an archway from the front entry hall. The bright and cheery room, flooded with light from the wide recessed front window and an additional window on the side of the house, has as its principal feature a red brick fireplace topped by a Colonial white mantel with fluted pilasters. This is located in the long inside wall of the room, between an archway looking into the dining room and a door leading to a rear hall.

A Wide Picture Window

The dining room has windows in only one wall but these are adequate, consisting of a wide picture window pleasantly flanked by smaller single casements. Built-in corner china cabinets are useful as well as decorative accessories for this room.

A swinging door leads from the dining room to the kitchen. This room is small but efficiently planned. Measuring 10x9 feet, it has a double compartment sink placed under a double window looking out on the rear yard. An L-shaped, linoleum-covered counter runs from the sink around the corner and along the abutting wall to the refrigerator. Nearby stands the kitchen stove, with a broom closet adjacent a step away from the rear entry door and the door to the dining room.

Between the stove and refrigerator in the kitchen is a door to the back hall. The rear hallway has a 5-shelf linen closet and a smaller storage closet. Stairs to the basement descend from this hall, and it also gives access to the modern bathroom and the two bedrooms on the first floor. The master bedroom, at the front of the house, measures 13x11 feet; the second bedroom, at the rear measures 12.6x11 feet. Each of these rooms has cross ventilation and each contains an unusually spacious clothes closet.

The collar can be partitioned off to best suit the occupants' needs, being amply large to accommodate heating plant and laundry, and still leave space for a recreation room.

Hardwood floors are used throughout the house, except in kitchen and rear hall which have linoleum flooring and the bathroom which has tiled floors. Roof and wall insulation are recommended for this dwelling.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week," or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope

Minimum Space
For Dining Alcove

In "stream-lining" the American home from the many-roomed house of a few years ago to the compact, small dwelling now in popular demand, the dining room is one of the features which in many cases has been eliminated.

Taking the place of the dining room, the living room is now planned to serve for formal dining and the kitchen for informal repasts. Even houses that retain the dining room plans generally include some arrangement in the kitchen for breakfasts and mid-night snacks.

"We plan to have a dining alcove in the kitchen," writes one prospective builder. "What is the least amount of space that can be used and still allow for a convenient alcove?"

The answer depends on whether the table and chairs are to be portable or built-in. In the former type of dining alcove the minimum desirable size is 7 feet, 6 inches square.

For built-in furniture an area 4 feet 6 inches by 5 feet will suffice.

CEILING AND TEMPERATURE Tests have shown that rooms with high ceilings are practically no cooler in hot weather than ones with low ceilings, while the higher ones add to the fuel bills in winter.

He—Why do you ask?
She—You should make a good golfer, then.

The pat of little feet was heard at the head of the stairs. The party hostess motioned for silence. "Listen," she cooed, "the children are going to deliver their goodnight message." There was a moment of hushed expectancy. Then "Mom, Junior found another bedbug."

The Lost Gloves
I've got a problem on my hand. My gloves forever on the floor do land. In the movie house I safely put them on my lap. By golly, surely I forgot to pick them up. And try as I may, when I got out of my seat the gloves of mine land right at my partner's feet. One morning, bright and early, a knock at my door. A little girl from down the road had found my gloves, she swore. Just recently, when parting from my host. We looked thru all the house, again. By chance, I glanced out on a willow-tree. And puzzled, there my gloves I see. I'd like to know, can you explain.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

How these gloves of mine, got thru the windowpane?
A gust of wind must have carried them up high.
When out of the car I got, to bid some friends goodbye.
By this time I was already pretty sore
And made a dash right thru the near-side door.
Goodbye, good manners and sunny disposition—heck!
Right then and there, I took a string and tied those gloves of mine around my neck!

Compton to Have Other Hearing On Check Charges

Woodstock, March 26—John H. Compton, local writer, charged with passing fraudulent checks, will appear Monday at 2 p. m. for a further hearing before Justice George J. Brandy.

Compton was taken into custody March 13, by Trooper Ray Dunn on charges brought by persons who had received alleged worthless checks issued on the Bank of America, Los Angeles, Calif.

During the early part of this year, and others, after a few days in a Kingston bank, totaling several hundred dollars.

Compton first appeared in court last Wednesday when several local businessmen and two from Kingston were on hand to witness the proceedings.

He was scheduled to appear at 2 p. m. but did not enter court until about 3:15 p. m. Due to circumstances his bond was not forfeited by the court.

The hearing got underway and Compton settled two of the cases but when the third was called, he announced that he had no more funds. The plaintiff in this case suggested that the judge proceed under the law which called for a minimum sentence of 10 days in jail for each offense.

After the several other plaintiffs had a consultation and decided to accept notes to be signed by Compton for the amount of their individual claims. A suspended sentence was imposed and the court continued to the next case where no appearance had been made by the plaintiff in question.

It again appeared as though the defendant would be given a jail sentence since his bond had expired and could not be renewed. At this point, however, Trooper Ray Dunn stated to the court that the business people did not want Compton to go to jail because he said, "I've got you here kids waiting for you at home," and he continued, "I make a plan that this man be released on his own recognizance until Monday, March 28, at 2 p. m." Justice Brandy granted the plea.

It was learned that Compton has been caring for two of his five children while his wife is in the hospital.

gauge lessons to Mrs. Reinberg for the past three years. At Providence, Prof. Hunter modern language department, said del Pino was known as a Spanish republican refugee.

His wife and daughter were said to be out of this country. At the time he taught at Brown from September, 1946, until June 1948, it was said he sought to have his wife, then in Spain, admitted to the U. S. as a teacher, but a visa was refused.

Del Pino lived on West 74th street, several blocks from Mrs. Reinberg's 277 Park avenue apartment.

His suicide note was mailed to a Spanish language newspaper in New York, "La Prensa." Police did not disclose its full content. But they quoted it as saying that del Pino had been giving Mrs. Reinberg Spanish lessons since 1945, that he had become fond of her, but that she had recently "thrown me over," and his heart was broken.

Mrs. Reinberg's body, clad only in stockings and shoes, was found lying on an oriental rug near a divider in the living room. "There was no disorder in the room."

A slip and brassiere, neatly folded, were on a cocktail table. On another table was a chess board, with all chessmen in place, except for a white pawn and black bishop which had been knocked down.

Later Is One
An elevator operator discovered the body after noticing an accumulation of milk and newspaper outside the apartment door.

First clue leading to solution of this case came after police examined an unopened letter from a woman to Mrs. Reinberg relating the "shocking news" that del Pino "had been killed by a subway car." Police said Mrs. Reinberg was dead when the letter was sent.

Several women, and del Pino, had been present at a gathering at Mrs. Reinberg's apartment Monday night, police said.

A circle of Mrs. Reinberg's friends were said to have met each Monday for a Spanish lesson.

The dead woman's body was claimed by her brother, Philip Minshull, of 28 Wakefield Place, Caldwell, N. J.

Her husband, besides being vice president of the mining firm, is also vice president of the Cerro de Pasco Railroad Company.

and air forces continued the controversies.

When the wartime numbers left, the new command was three years old, and on November 1, the army representative remained aloof from much of the postwar debates. The air force and navy continued their war-born wrangle over what their respective roles in warfare should be.

Mr. Truman, trying what Roosevelt had tried before him, asked Eisenhower to take temporary relief from the presidency of Columbia University and come to the Pentagon as chairman of the joint chiefs organization.

The general started last January what he said would be a six or seven week job. He put a long, strenuous hours at the Pentagon, trying to speed up the work of the organization and settle disputes between the navy and air forces.

Until he returns or a new permanent chief is appointed under legislation now pending in Congress, the armed forces can conduct any feuding unrestrained—unless the incoming Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson intervenes. He has a reputation for firmness.

Keating, his many relatives and friends were present at the services to pay a last tribute of respect to his memory. The children's choir sang the "Te Deum" during the Mass at 10 o'clock. Carriers May Direct Drivers Not to Stop

New York, March 26 (AP)—Bulletin have been sent to hundreds of trucking firms telling them it "may be advisable" to resist a union plan for stopping drivers to examine their union status.

Joseph Adelizzi, managing director of the Motor Carrier Association of New York, said last night had mailed the bulletins to member firms which operate in the east, south and in some places in the west.

He said his action was a result of a plan by the A.F.L. International Brotherhood of Teamsters to examine drivers for union cards "in every nook and corner of this country."

Dave Beck, the union's executive vice president, disclosed the plan. He also has called for a boost in union membership from the present 1,000,000 to 2,000,000.

Adelizzi said the bulletins told truck firms "it may be advisable" to instruct drivers to "refuse to stop on the road for anyone."

"We know of no authority by which anyone but police officers can stop your trucks," the bulletin said.

Adelizzi said firms may "very well consent" to have drivers produce their credentials when examined, but that "we don't want to be inconvenienced" and the union has promised "we won't be."

ing the conference, trapped and hunted in the rain.

About the same number of writers, artists and scientists from many parts of the world filled the conference room to capacity as the three-day affair opened.

International Communist Soviet conspirator, Dimitri Shostakovich told the assemblage he hoped the "genial efforts" of the parley would bear fruit. He heads a seven-man Soviet delegation.

Speaking through an interpreter, he greeted his American hosts, saying:

"We are united with them in accomplishing the noble task of defending peace against its onerous."

Urging a firmer "link between the representatives of culture of our two peoples," he added:

"This friendship and the resulting mutual understanding will contribute to the establishment of peace in the world so much desired by millions of ordinary people in all countries."

"As a representative of the art which need not be translated from one language to another . . . I particularly realize how much can be done for the cause of peace by the establishment of firm and friendly relations based upon trust and mutual respect."

Other speakers from in front of and behind the Iron Curtain pleaded their case for peace in today's troubled world.

2,000 Pickets
Outside, surging back and forth and praying and chanting in the drizzle, was a police-estimated throng of 2,000 persons of mixed religious and racial background.

With placards and shouts they protested the conference, the full title of which is the Cultural and Scientific Conference—World Peace.

Generally, the pickets were loud but orderly. There was one fistfight and some noisy arguments. But a large band of police was not required to make any arrests.

Yesterday, at one point, pickets knelt in prayer outside the Waldorf on Park avenue.

One picket wore a monocle. His woman companion had a monocle. Seven crippled war veterans wheeled their chairs back and forth in the line for about 15 minutes.

Crowds of curious lined Park avenue to watch. Police said there were 9,000 spectators on hand at one time.

The picketing was scheduled to continue on during the life of the conference, which ends Sunday. The pickets dispersed shortly after 11 p. m., E.S.T. last night.

Counter Rally
A counter-rally was to be held today a few blocks away by Americans for Intellectual Freedom, a group opposed to the Waldorf conference.

Opponents of the peace conference charged that it is dominated by pro-Communist delegates. This repeatedly was denied by the conference chairman, Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard University astronomer.

But America's Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, has called the meeting "a sounding board for Communist propaganda."

There were delegates from Soviet Russia and most of the nations behind the Iron Curtain. The conference also has about 500 American artists, writers, educators and clergymen as sponsors.

Major Locke flew as a lead scout in the first allied shuttle bombing raids over Germany. Ahead of the attacking formation, he relayed weather information back for the 1,000-plane flight out of England to Germany, Russia, and Italy.

On the initial shuttle run, Major Locke spent two weeks inside the Ukraine at one of the three Russian air bases used at the time by the Americans and British. He recalled that the Red airmen had "little or no use" for the Mosquito bomber he flew "because it didn't have any machineguns or cannons."

He explained that for greater speed the Mosquitoes were stripped of all armament on reconnaissance missions such as the one which took him to Russia.

Russians Copied
"Russian pilots concentrated on flying as loop experts," Major Locke commented, "and they had little use for anything that couldn't carry a lot of guns on it."

Regardless of their dislike for the British Mosquito the Russians apparently decided that U. S. air tactics were sound. The Kingston pilot remembered that they lost little time in copying the flight methods of the B-17 "Flying Fortress" formations.

Captain Haines served in the East Coast Training Command as a B-24 "Liberator" instructor. He was later transferred to B-29 Superforts and now serves as operations officer in the 21st Photo Reconnaissance Squadron.

Important Unit
Captain Haines and Major Locke both emphasized the importance of the Air Reserve in the defense of the country and pointed out
